PULLBACK OF CHINESE EMPLOYEES

Foxconn ops unaffected: Govt

WEN-YEE LEE
Taipei, September 12

INDIA DOES NOT expect significant disruption to Foxconn's operations in the country after the iPhone assembler ordered some employees from China to return home over the past few months, a top Indian government official said this week.

"Although some of the Chinese workers had to leave because they were asked to return, operations did not really suffer significantly," S Krishnan, secretary of India's ministry of electronics and information technology, told reporters in Taipei, referring to Foxconn's India operations. "Foxconn has been in their plant near Chennai for the last

MAKING IN INDIA

■ iPhone assembler's India operations didn't suffer even if some Chinese workers left

■ Foxconn has a plant in Chennai since five years and a new plant is coming up near Bengaluru

■ Other than the Chinese, there have been workers from Taiwan, and the US five years and a new plant is coming up near Bengaluru. So they were able to manage with some of the workers there, some people from Taiwan, and some people from the US," Krishnan said late on Thursday during a visit to a trade show in Taiwan. Foxconn, formally known as Hon Hai Precision Industry, asked hundreds of its engineers and technicians from mainland China to return home from its operations in India, Bloomberg reported in July.

Foxconn and its client Apple have been seeking to ramp up iPhone production in India to mitigate the impact of US President Donald Trump's threatened triple-digit tariffs on Chinese goods, which are on hold as Beijing and Washington negotiate a trade deal.

Most of the iPhones Foxconn makes for Apple are assembled in China.

Krishnan said it was not clear why the employees from China were asked to return home. —REUTERS

Low-carat jewellery gains popularity

KRISHNA BAROT
Ahmedabad, September 12

WITH GOLD AND fine jewellery becoming costlier due to soaring prices of the precious metal, a section of buyers has turned to 9-carat (9kt) products. Gold prices are hovering around ₹1.1 lakh per 10 g, an all-time high.

Following the government move, retailers are noticing a steady growth in the low-carat jewellery segment. Atul Sinha, chief operating officer at Caratlane, said: "We now see over 1,000 customers every month choosing 9kt designs across a wide range of products." Shyamala Ramanan, business head at Mia by Tanishq, said: "We are seeing customers open up to lower-karat options such as 9kt, alongside the more familiar and affordable 14kt." According to Neil Sonawala, managing director at Zen Diamond, government initiatives such as BIS certification have played a key role in spreading awareness and boosting consumer trust. "While certification has prompted customers to explore the 9kt jewellery segment, we at Zen Diamonds have noted a resonance among customers with slightly higher-carat segments, such as 14kt jewellery. In fact, we've recorded a 17% year-on-year rise in demand for 14kt jewellery." "The strongest traction comes from the 25-40 age group," Sinha said.
